» Academic Affairs

To all faculty members,

Fall semester 2011 midterm grades have been added to the Faculty drive (J:drive) folder labeled „Academic_Services_Grades_by_Advisor”. The list is sorted by advisor.

Now is the time to contact your advisees who are in academic trouble. They should be counseled to 1) seek help from a tutor, 2) contact their instructors if they believe there have been errors, 3) consider withdrawing from a class and adding a late start class, 4) determine what steps can be taken to change study habits.

The last day to withdraw from a class with a “WP/WF” is October 28, 2011. Please remember that students do not need to complete a policy exemption to withdraw with the grade of “WP or WF.” Students need to obtain the advisor’s signature along with the instructor’s signature in order to withdraw from a class.

Thank you.

Dean of Academic Services

» Congratulations to Dr. Brian E. Birdnow, Adjunct Instructor for the History and Geography Department, who has just published his second book, Gerald R. Ford: The All-American President (Nova Publishers, 2011).

LU Quidditch Making the News
KTVI Fox News reporter Tim Ezell will be on campus early Monday morning to play Quidditch with Lindenwood’s intramural Quidditch team. Here is how Director of Intramurals T.C. Brown describes Quidditch:

“It is the game from the Harry Potter books/movies. It is a combination of handball, dodge ball, and rugby. We did a trial run the other day and it was a crazy amount of fun.”

He has arranged for Ezell to arrive at Lindenwood shortly before Ezell’s first live shot it at 6:55 a.m. He will do another live report at 7:25 a.m. Then he will tape a piece that will air sometime during the 8 a.m. hour of the morning newscast.
