Note: Please list excused absences by placing the last names of students first. Thank you!

For Your Information

Important LU Academic and Administrative Information

September 9, 2011

The following subject areas have new posts or reminders.

Academic Affairs

Campus Affairs

This email will be archived in the Executive Documents Folder on the J-Drive for future reference.

Academic Affairs

The Butler Library has acquired a number of the seminal titles of the French New Wave (La Nouvelle Vague). The auteurs include Chabrol, Godard, Truffaut, and others. A thank you goes out to Dr. Brown for his generous donation of films in this movement. Thank you, from the Butler Library.

The French New Wave
The following students did not make it on the field trip on Thursday, September 8.

Jordan McKay
Danny Rodgers

Thank you,

Michiko Nohara-LeClair

Campus Affairs
Regarding the September 15 deadline for Webpage cleanup, I hope folks will not stress out over this date. I suggested that schools and offices identify outdated Web content before Webmaster Jason Waack migrates the material to the new Hannon Hill Cascade Server Content Management System. He will be doing that later this month. But changes can certainly be made after the migration as well.

After Jason’s migration is completed, the real work of restructuring the flow of information on your pages will begin. To that end, in addition to meeting individually with some of the newly assigned Web administrators, I have started creating suggested menu outlines for each major office’s and school’s pages. This seems to be a good way to open a dialog that will make sure everyone is prepared for the bigger reorganization that we will be conducting later this fall. I will contact each major office and school individually as I progress through this planning process.

The new Web site will be awesome and provide virtually unlimited opportunities for you to share information with prospective and current students in a clear manner!

Best Regards,

Julie Beard
Executive Editorial Director
(636) 949-4977